Concerning Games of chance via Internet

Dear Sir, Madam,

On June 13th 2012 we wrote you a letter concerning the offering of illegal games of chance via Internet aimed at the Dutch market and the prioritisation criteria, which the Gaming Authority has set in her fight against said offerings. In this letter we also pointed out that these criteria also apply to any other websites on which you are offering games of chance via the Internet and that are aimed at the Dutch market.

Research has shown that your company is involved with (the offering of games of chance on) the website [REDACTED]. This website also aims it's games of chance at the Dutch market. It is entirely available in the Dutch language. Therefore this website meets (one of) the prioritisation criteria.

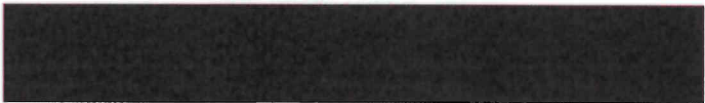

The Gaming Authority have taken note of the necessary measures your company took with the websites [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] so far. Therefore I give your company until May 20th 2013 to make the necessary adjustments to the abovementioned website. If your company has any other websites that offer games of chance aimed at the Dutch market, this demand also applies to those websites. I request you to inform me about the URL of these websites.

I also request you to inform me before the abovementioned deadline in writing (and e-mail) that your company has taken the necessary measures on the website(s) that are still aimed at the Dutch market, so as to ensure that you no longer meet the prioritisation criteria and that our focus will no longer be on your activities. If this/these website(s) continue(s) to meet one or more prioritisation criteria, the Gaming Authority will take enforcement measures.

I trust I informed you sufficiently.

Yours sincerely,
Head of the Enforcement Department of the Dutch Gaming Authority.
